

First Choice Consulting Ltd offers professional HR solutions and recruiting services for the life science industry. On behalf of our customer, the Swiss affiliate of a quickly growing global biopharmaceutical company with location in Central Switzerland, we are looking for a

Medical Scientific Liaison Manager Zurich, Central, Eastern and Italian part of Switzerland

In this role your primary tasks will be developing scientific relationships with relevant KOLs and driving country medical activities in alignment with regional initiatives and the Global Medical Plan.

Your responsibilities:

- You identify, develop and maintain collaborative relationship with KOLs, scientific experts and other medical scientific stakeholders
- You provide field feedback as appropriate through dynamic stakeholder engagement and support the local affiliate in the development of medical tactics and provide input to regional plans if necessary
- You contribute and support medical scientific aspects in various activities locally and regionally
- You deliver inputs to head office led medical programs ahead of launch
- You provide advice to the organization and management on medical matters and their legal implications
- You support studies on the local level if necessary
- You work with local patient access team to support local access
- You set up scientific advisory boards with the appropriate key stakeholders
- You attend relevant local, regional and global congresses and symposia to represent the organization and interact to appropriate stakeholders and customers

Main competences:

- You have excellent presentation and communication skills
- You are able to quickly build up professional relationships and manage KOL with competence
- You align your activities with the marketing strategy and manage projects autonomously

Your profile:

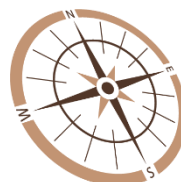

- You have an university degree in Medical/Science, Pharmacist or Veterinarian plus 2 years of direct experience in the medical environment, preferably hands on experience with immunological therapies, hematological or orphan drugs
- Willingness to travel and high mobility
- Languages: Fluency in German and English and good knowledge in French

Jasmin Blättler, Executive Recruiting Partner

Tel.: +41 41 220 80 74

application@firstchoice-consulting.ch

www.firstchoice-consulting.ch

FIRST CHOICE
CONSULTING AG